

Written in the Stars

The sun and the moon are powering our story
The passing of time in the wonder realm of space
Did all love ignite in celestial power and glory
Through aeons of history ever gathering pace

A prophet, a wizard channelling from above
To make music explode across the universe
Theft of this energy, darker than a Demon
We cannot deny the word, the chapter, the verse

The Sun and the planets controlling from afar
Writing the story of who and what we are
Was it all pre-arranged right from the very start
Written in the stars like a cosmic work of art

What is it governs the sacred truth of life
Painted so bright throughout the Earth and sky
Some would say were only survivors from Mars
But the truth is written in the stars
